I have always been passionate about the development of talent and helping people achieve their full potential. Working at LTN & Partners helps me to continue to do that in the legal profession even though I no longer work as a practicing lawyer.

I work with all the teams at LTN to help law firms identify and nurture talent to strengthen their respective businesses.

Before working at LTN & Partners, I had over 25 years' experience working in the City as a lawyer serving the leveraged finance and private equity markets, most recently as Head of Leveraged Finance at Linklaters. My leadership role developed a keen interest in, and focus on, leadership, resilience and teamwork and I was also a mentor to a large number of lawyers and also an ally to a number of LGBTQ+ members of staff.
