I joined LTN & Partners in January as a Senior Recruiter in the Associate team. My client focus is on leading US and UK law firms, for whom I recruit Associates at all levels of seniority and across all practice areas. I began my legal recruitment career at another leading legal recruitment agency, where I worked on placements both within private practice and the in-house market.

Prior to embarking on a career in legal recruitment I studied Psychology at UCL.

Outside of work I can be found either binge-watching the latest Netflix series, or out socialising with friends and family. I've also recently taken up boxing as a hobby.
