I joined the partner team at LTN & Partners in 2022 as a Director and bring several years of experience advising both clients and candidates on high profile moves in the London market. I primarily focus on representing lawyers with top tier US law firms and a select number of UK-headquartered clients. Having assisted my clients in strengthening their existing offering or kickstarting new teams, I feel I am well positioned to advise both law firms looking to expand, and lawyers who might be considering a career change. I undertake both contingent and retained work. While I principally work in private practice, I have worked on and completed numerous in-house mandates, placing both GCs and Deputy GCs.

I am firmly convinced the talent of the team at LTN, as well as the integration between its recruitment and its consultancy business, allow us unparalleled access to senior decision-makers in London as well as in foreign markets, a claim very few competitors can credibly make.
