I offer clients (candidates and firms alike), a unique perspective into the hiring process, from a strategic and operational level having worked on both sides of the equation. In my previous law firm roles, I enjoyed a broad remit or responsibilities that I now tailor and use for the benefit of our consultancy and recruitment clients. These include: strategic analysis and planning, business development, client engagement, lateral partner hiring and integration, associate hiring, training and mentoring and financial analysis. I have been involved in the legal industry since 1996, and have worked for Magic Circle and US law firms.

Prior to moving into legal search, I was a key member of the senior non-lawyer team that established the London office of a US law firm. During my law firm career, I have worked extensively in London, Hong Kong and Continental Europe and have maintained strong links and connections in these markets. My move into legal search has resulted in successful placements (partner and associate) in London, Hong Kong, and New Zealand where I have strong connections with the legal community. My current focus, combines partner level recruitment and working with the LTN consultancy team to offer strategic advisory and consultancy services to assist with or effect change management for our law firm and non-law firm clients.

I am based in Cyprus and split my time between the sunny skies of the Island and the less than sunny skies of London.
