I am a senior recruiter at LTN and have worked in different facets of law which gives me a breadth of experience in corporate, commercial, IP and immigration law. I am a qualified IP lawyer – completing my LLB in the UK and LLM in IP Law in the USA. I moved back to my native country, Pakistan, where I continued to build on my experience and worked in private practice and in-house roles. When I moved to London in 2014, I fell in love with the city instantly.

My true passion is watching people grow professionally and personally and being a part of their journeys. Working in the Associate Team at LTN gives me the opportunity to do just that along with establishing strong and long-term relationships with our clients.

My interests outside of work are traveling, swimming, and painting- all of which have taken a back seat to the pure joy and madness of cleaning up after my energetic young son.
